Pistoia 1923

"We need to aim at essential things, to remove every redundant effects, every useless flowering, to elaborate a concept on mathematical bases, on fundamental ideas, on elementary structures; we strongly need to avoid waste and excess". Starting from these main points, the graphic designer born in Pistoia devoted himself to communicate through the content. He has been strongly active in the redaction of magazines such as Punta and Casabella, in the interior design, in graphics, exhibitions and didactics. He worked as a teacher first at the Società Umanitaria, then in the Istituto d' Arte of Monza and the Istituto delle Industrie Artistiche in Urbino, finally in 1987 in his own school in Milan.
