

ALODIA

Catalog Collezione

Year of design 2010

Stackable stool created in metal tube and steel sheet, seat laser cut, feet in black plastic. Available in two heights, it is offered in matt paint mustard, blue, green, white and anthracite colours.

Gallery

Dimensions

Dimensions

Certification

Designer

Todd Bracher

1974

Born in New York in 1974, Todd Bracher is a designer currently based in New York City after ten years working in Copenhagen, Milan, Paris and London. Bracher develops furniture design besides architectures. His work makes him considered the "America's Next Great Designer" by the NY Daily News and obtains for him several nominations such as Designer of the Year in 2008 and 2009. His experience ranges from working independently, co-founding the xperimental collaboration "to22", being Creative Director of the luxury brand Georg Jensen.